Camp Nature

Once again, a free Mandarin summer camp is available on the campus of the Saginaw Valley State University (SVSU) this summer. The camp is hosted by the Department of Teaching Chinese as a Second Language (TCSL), Ming Chuan University (MCU). It aims to provide an opportunity for people age 6+/all race to learn Mandarin. You are welcome to explore the language learning adventure with fun and with the real experts from the other side of the Pacific Ocean.

Goals of the Program

Learning Mandarin can be enjoyable and effective. A group of well-trained TCSL students from MCU offer Mandarin language course in this camp. The curriculum covers Chinese New Year, Chinese opera, Chinese tea culture, Taiwan night markets, etc. Hands-on Chinese craft sessions are included to provide an active learning experience. This camp aims to help campers improve their Mandarin proficiency and have a good understanding of Chinese culture.

Instructors

The instructors are well equipped with TCSL professional knowledge and tutoring skills. The program will be supervised by Dr. Jui-Hsueh Hu.

Schedule of Activities

Over the 4-week course, campers will discover the beauty of Mandarin and the significance of Chinese culture through a wide range of Mandarin language learning and Chinese cultural activities.
